Terms and Conditions Specific to the Enterprise Wide Report Licence

1) Accessing a report on-line via AMA Research Interactive

A user identity and password is required to read AMA reports via the AMA Research Interactive online facility. With the enterprise wide licence, three user identities and passwords are assigned by AMA Research to the three persons designated as lead users by the purchasing company (“the purchaser”).

When using the AMA Research Interactive online facility, the designated users may access the report’s contents from any computer. The users may share access with other colleagues at the point of viewing but may not reveal the user identity and password to anyone else. In the event that a designated user leaves the company, he/she or the ‘lead user’ should inform AMA Research and a user identity and password will be assigned to another person within the same company.

2) Accessing reports off-line

Reports can be downloaded from AMA Research Interactive or purchased as Pdf, Word or Powerpoint files from AMA Research. Any of these documents or parts thereof held as files (whether purchased directly or downloaded from the web) may be stored on individual computers or a server, and accessed, read and used by any employee of the purchaser within the purchaser’s company, subsidiary companies, owning companies or group of companies.

Usage is restricted to employees and relevant companies within a single country. International or global access may be granted under a separate licence by contacting AMA Research.

3) Reproduction and disclosure of material

Copies may be made of the research material and may be shared between users at the purchasing company within a single country. The purchaser shall ensure that this research material, or any part thereof, is not disclosed or made available by the purchaser, or any of its employees, externally to any other person, company, subsidiary, associated or holding company, corporation or organisation, or to any group companies that are based abroad.

4) Storage and transmission of material

Excepting rights granted in point 2 above, the contents of any purchased research material must not be reproduced, transmitted, held or stored in any company retrieval system, intranet or other electronic storage or transmitting device in whole or in part, without the prior written permission of the copyright holders, who are AMA Research Ltd.

This Agreement will be governed by English Law and the parties hereby submit to the non-exclusive jurisdiction of the English courts.
